NEHAWU STRIKE AT UNISA CONTINUES

For immediate release
23 October 2019

The strike by members of the National Education, Health and Allied Workers Union (NEHAWU), which began yesterday; is continuing today at all campuses of the university nation-wide.

The university advises all stakeholders who want to access campuses to conduct their business to do so online, where applicable.

Talks between university management and NEHAWU to resolve the issue raised by the trade union with regard to the safety of Unisa buildings and facilities are continuing; with a view to reaching a settlement on the matter as speedily as possible.

All indications are that students wishing to access the study areas at Unisa campuses to prepare for their exams are able to do so without much hindrance.

The university will continue to provide constant updates to all stakeholders on relevant platforms.
