

Unisa 1873-2018: The making of a distance learning university

Content

CHAPTER 1

The University of the Cape of Good Hope and Unisa, 1873–1946

CHAPTER 2

A.J.H. van der Walt: Higher education by correspondence, 1946–1956

CHAPTER 3

Samuel Pauw: Consolidation and expansion, 1956–1972

CHAPTER 4

Theo van Wijk: ‘A beacon of reasonableness’? 1972–1988

CHAPTER 5

Cas van Vuuren: Transition deferred, 1989–1993

CHAPTER 6

Marinus Wiechers: Transition and discord, 1994–1997

CHAPTER 7

Antony Melck: Steadying the Unisa ship, 1998–2001

CHAPTER 8

Barney Pityana: The African university in the service of humanity, 2002–2010

CHAPTER 9

Mandla Makhanya: Inculcating ethical values, 2011–2018

Afterword

Bibliography

Contributors