Drive digital enablement

FUNDAMENTALS FOR STRATEGIC OVERSIGHT IN IT FOR BOARD MEMBERS

Information Technology is critical for any organisation to survive in this digital era. For this reason, board members of company boards of both public and private sector; need to be empowered to be able to drive digital enablement cost effectively in organisations. IT needs to ensure it is at the forefront with the business, and not only traditional a 'support function'; especially in the "4IR" (Fourth Industrial Revolution)

This is done by actively involving and upskilling board members with the requisite skills that can help them to strategically drive those digital decisions and effectiveness. Board members need to have requisite skills developed to decide on these digital approaches that have now become increasingly pertinent in business.
